

Discover a world of music with Audio Network

With over 50,000 tracks to choose from, all the music you need is just a few clicks away. Whether you're a professional film maker or just getting started, you'll find audionetwork.com.au an amazing resource. It's easy! Just search, listen download.

Beta Phase

This program is currently in beta phase. The website you are using is the professional/consumer website. Students must be supervised while using this site as the library does contain music which may be mildly offensive or inappropriate for children. You can also choose just to use the playlists we've created (see page 5).

Searching

The home page offers you three ways to search:

The screenshot shows the Audio Network website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a search bar containing the text "heroic panoramic orchestral slow epic". To the right of the search bar are links for "Advanced", "Recent", and "Favourites". Below the search bar is a "BROWSE BY" section with several categories: "Musical Styles", "Mood / Emotion", "Instrumentation", "Production Genre", "Album Listing", and "Composers". The main content area features a large "LOVE MUSIC" logo with a trumpet and a counter that says "We have over 53259 tracks & counting". Below the logo is a promotional message: "High quality production music for TV, Film, Advertising and Corporate Video. Pre-cleared for worldwide and multi-platform use — forever". At the bottom, there are sections for "What's hot" and "Simple pricing".

The Browse by section allows you progressively to fine-tune your search by drilling down through different levels to find the tracks you want.

Search box. Type anything you like here, it's predictive and the quickest way to search. Try putting in strings of words – for instance 'fast exciting orchestral' or 'optimistic indie rock'.

HANDY TIP Remember the acronym MIST: mood, instrumentation, style, tempo. If you can enter one word for each you'll get accurate results. For example; 'happy, guitar, rock, fast'.

Advanced Search. Here you can add any combination of parameters including categories, metre, tempo (BPM), key and duration to help you get right to the tracks you need.

When you've got the tracks you need, here's what you can do with them:

1. Sort your results: Choose how many results on a page and the order they appear: random, most recent or A-Z
2. Audition the track by clicking on the play icon (left)
3. See and audition alternate mixes and related tracks by clicking on the 'mixes' button. Here you'll find instrumentals, underscores, shorter mixes, stings and tracks we thought you might like too.
4. Download tracks by clicking on the arrow icon.
5. Create Project Folders by clicking on the + icon. These can be saved and viewed anytime online.
6. Create a Favourites list by clicking on the star icon (they will turn yellow). This list is saved just for your current session.

File Formats

When you download a track from the search results page, it will be in WAV format. This is a broadcast quality file and is usually around 40MB for a full length track. If you add tracks to a project folder, once inside the project you will have the option of downloading tracks as wither mp3 or WAV format. mp3s are a smaller file, usually 3-7MB and are suitable for online and non-broadcast use.

Projects

A project is a folder of tracks you can create and store. It's very handy if you're sourcing tracks for a specific production, or more than one production at a time, but don't want to download straight away. You can store tracks in a folder to listen to later, or grant colleagues access to. You can add tracks and delete tracks from a project at any time, or you can download directly from a project either in an mp3 or WAV format.

You can choose either to keep your project private and visible only to yourself, or by clicking 'Edit project info' you can specify which of your colleagues are able to see, listen to and edit the projects.

Creating a project

To create a new project, select a track and click 'add to project' (plus icon) to save it. You are then prompted either to add to an existing project or to create and name a new project. You can add as many tracks as you like to your project by searching and selecting 'add to existing project'. To add a track to an existing project, choose the project from the dropdown list.

Other highlights

Order arrange the tracks in any sequence you like. Remember to 'save' any order before leaving the projects page

Ratings click the rating stars to rank your file selections (1, 2, or 3 stars)

Notes enter notes about a track by clicking the notes icon against each track

Email Project click to send your project's link to your colleagues or client via email

Move tracks to another project tick the track(s) you'd like to transfer to another project, then select the relevant project from the dropdown menu

Copy tracks to another project tick the track(s) you'd like to duplicate into another project, then select the relevant project from the dropdown menu

Playlists

The website you are accessing is Audio Network's full professional site and does contain music which might be mildly offensive or inappropriate for YABA users.

For this reason, we have put together a number of curated playlists. Your access is not restricted to these playlists but you might find them a good place to start.

The playlists have been saved as Projects. Once you have logged in, click on Projects to find a list of folders.

IMPORTANT:

These projects are shared by all YABA users so remember, anything you add or delete will change what all users see.

You can create your own playlists or Projects which will only be seen by you.
